Tajik educators discuss education reform and reading instruction standards at Roanoke County Public Schools in Virginia USA

Hon. Larry LaRocco (D-ID) and Hon. Scott Klug (R-WI) brief young leaders about working at the federal government.

This program “was a unique opportunity to meet and interact with people from different cultures and backgrounds,” while “attending high level trainings.”

Chiraz Karoui, Tunisia

Teams of Excellence™ global experts provide customized training and sustainable solutions which ignite new vision, transfer knowledge, and inspire action for the private and public sector. Approaches are hands-on, practical, and immediately applicable.

The Legacy Advantage

Hon. Larry LaRocco (D-ID) and Hon. Scott Klug (R-WI) brief young leaders about working at the federal government.

Through its Teams of Excellence™ Legacy International provides subject matter experts who bring to their training a wealth of knowledge and successful real-world practical experience. The end result is economic well-being and returns on investments of time, efforts and employment of those who want to work in dignity and generate gainful employment.

Joe Robinson, former International Trade Manager, Governor’s Office of the State of Virginia, Co-author of the MBA textbook “Global Business from Theory to Practice”

“We definitely need LivingSidebySide® in our schools. This program can help our education system to fill in a gap that we have today – structured tolerance and peacebuilding education. I am sure, teachers can make great use of this program, help young people benefit and get benefits for themselves, too. I see several venues for its implementation in our schools.”
